BS 499-2:1980 Welding terms and symbols. Specification for symbols for welding

View on Information Provider website {{ linkText }}

Abbreviation
BS 499-2:1980
Valid from 30/04/1980

Information provider
British Standards Institution
Author
British Standards Institution
Information type
British Standard
Format
PDF

Cited By
This resource is cited by 1 document (show Citations)

Description

This Part of BS 499 specifies requirements for the symbolic representation of welds on drawings. For the most common types of weld the scheme provides basic indications regarding the welds to be made without over-burdening the drawing with notes or showing an additional view.

The scheme is not intended to apply to complex joints, involving multiple welds for example, for which it may be simpler to show on the drawing a separate detailed view of the joint and welds required.

For assistance with locating previous versions, please contact the information provider.

View on Information Provider website {{ linkText }}

For assistance with locating previous versions, please contact the information provider.

This resource is cited by:

BS 499-2:1980 Welding terms and symbols. Specification for symbols for welding

This document is CITED BY:

- NZS 4442:1988

  BS 499-2:1980 is cited by NZS 4442:1988 Welded steel pipes and fittings for water, sewage and medium pressure gas

Back

BS 499-2:1980 Welding terms and symbols. Specification for symbols for welding

Show what documents this resource is CITED BY | Show what documents this resource CITES

Description

This Part of BS 499 specifies requirements for the symbolic representation of welds on drawings. For the most common types of weld the scheme provides basic indications regarding the welds to be made without over-burdening the drawing with notes or showing an additional view.

The scheme is not intended to apply to complex joints, involving multiple welds for example, for which it may be simpler to show on the drawing a separate detailed view of the joint and welds required.

View on Information Provider website

BS 499-2:1980 Welding terms and symbols. Specification for symbols for welding

Description

This Part of BS 499 specifies requirements for the symbolic representation of welds on drawings. For the most common types of weld the scheme provides basic indications regarding the welds to be made without over-burdening the drawing with notes or showing an additional view.

The scheme is not intended to apply to complex joints, involving multiple welds for example, for which it may be simpler to show on the drawing a separate detailed view of the joint and welds required.

View on Information Provider website

This resource does not cite any other resources.

BS 499-2:1980 Welding terms and symbols. Specification for symbols for welding

This resource does not CITE any other resources.

Back

Close

Table of Contents

Print Save Email

Feedback

Feedback