Information type

Determination

Format

PDF

Description

This determination considers two dangerous building notices that were issued for a six-storey building in central Auckland.

The various levels of the building are fitted out for retail, offices, and sleeping accommodation.

The determination considers the authority's decision to the second dangerous building notice restricting entry to part of the building, which meant part of the building could not be used for sleeping accommodation, and the authority's decision to reissue that notice after thirty days.
