Description

This Standard specifies the requirements relating to the design and construction of workboxes generally having one working level, to accommodate a maximum of three persons.

Scope

This Standard does not cover the design and construction of workboxes intended for more than three persons.

It includes sections on design, construction, inspection and testing. Appendices include typical workbox details, a list of Standards for components used in lifting systems and a typical certificate of workbox inspection and test. It is intended for use with AS 2550.1, which specifies their safe use.

For assistance with locating previous versions, please contact the information provider.

Notes/comments

Standard was reconfirmed in Australia on 18 November 2016
